NEW SCHEDULE FOR MAILS

Rail Passenger Motor Coach Made Last Run On Line Saturday

A new schedule of mail arrivals and departures was announced effective immediately by the postoffice in Placerville on Monday morning.

The schedule change is made necessary by the withdrawal of the passenger train on the Sacramento-Placerville branch of the Southern Pacific Company, which was effective Saturday night.

Mail will arrive in Placerville daily except Sunday at 9 a. m. and 3 p. m.

Mail will depart from Placerville daily except Sunday at 9:15 a. m. and 4:30 p. m.

The Sunday schedule provides for only one arrival, at 9 a. m. and only one departure, at 9:30 a. m.

Postoffice carriers and rural route carriers will leave the office at 9:30 o'clock in the morning on their first daily delivery.

Among a number of passengers going to Sacramento Saturday morning on the last passenger train to leave the community after fifty-one years of service, were Miss Lulu Cook and Mrs. Roland Dunkum.

The "last train to arrive" in the county seat carried a number of passengers, several of whom had gone to El Dorado especially to ride into town on the last train.

Upon arriving in Placerville, the train crew received orders to return Saturday evening with the train to Sacramento, thus setting at rest some reports that the coach was to be turned over to the county historical museum.

Agent George Yaeger reports that milk and cream will be picked up along the railroad line in the lower county by the freight train, operating daily except Monday, and that express service to the county seat and points between Placerville and Sacramento will, in the future, be handled exclusively by truck.

The Placerville office of the railroad will be open at seven o'clock in the morning and is to close at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Orelli is the former Miss Georgia Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Henderson, of Diamond Springs. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Orelli, of this city.

The wedding service was performed by the Rev. Father T. J. Hayes, assisted by the Rev. M. V. Myles. Miss Henderson was attended by her sister, Miss Flossie Henderson, and Thomas Smith, Jr., was best man. The bride's little niece and nephew were train bearers.

Following the service there was a wedding breakfast and reception at the home of the bride's parents at Diamond Springs, after which the happy couple departed on their wedding trip, at the conclusion of which they will be at the home in their own residence, recently acquired by Mr. Orelli, on Washington Street in this city.

Both are county high school graduates and Mr. Orelli is a former student at California Technical Institute, at Pasadena.

A large number of very beautiful gifts attests the high esteem in which the two are held in the community. We are glad to join their many friends in all good wishes.

COUGARS WIN 2 AGAINST IONE

Extra Period Decides A Team Game 21-20 In Favor Of Amador Five

The Cougars took two games out of three against Ione Friday night at Ione, in the second round of the Mother Lode League schedule.

Cougar C and B teams won 11 to 9, and 40 to 17, while the Ione A five took a victory from the Cougars 21 to 20 in a game which went one extra period.

The babes were behind, 4 to 1 at the end of the first quarter of the opening game and at half time were trailing, 4 to 6. The Cougars got six points in the third quarter to one for Ione, making it ten to seven, and added a free throw while Ione took a field goal to finish up 11 to 9.

Emmerson got two baskets for the Cougars, Holt one and a free throw, Westphal a basket and Sinclair and Meyers a free throw apiece. For Ione, Tullis gathered five points.

The Bee game saw the Cougars lead 8 to 2 at the quarter, 19 to 6 at the half, 29 to 15 at the next post and 40-17, final.

Killian bagged seven field goals, Boggs six and a free toss, Cribbs three, Edelman and Smith one each and Wiglesworth, one and a free toss. Church led Ione with eleven.

The Cougars were ahead 5 to 2 in the first quarter of the A team game and the half ended seven to seven. The Cougars got five and Ione four in the third quarter and in the fourth the Cougars got eight and Ione nine, to finish up 20-all.

An extra period was ordered and the only score was a converted free toss by Custino, of Ione. Nobody got a field goal.

J. Schroth led the Cougars with five baskets. Del Carlo got five points, Jack Singleton three and S. Thompson two.

Kerr and T. Scully got six apiece for Ione, Sheridan five, Custino three and Hawkins made a free throw good.

In the B team game, the players report that Swesey scored a basket during the short period of time he was in the game. Since the scorekeeper failed to credit the basket, we are at a loss to know who has credit for a basket that they didn't get.

20TH PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK WILL OPEN ON APRIL 24

SAN FRANCISCO — Public School Week this year will be observed beginning Monday, April 24, according to a proclamation issued by Leon O. Whitsell, Grand Master of Masons of California and addressed to the 130,000 members of the order in the state.

The coming celebration marks the twentieth annual observance of the event. The week was originally established to call public attention to, and aid in correcting, a critical condition in the public schools due to a shortage of teaching personnel caused by war conditions. Its purpose each year now is to keep the general public informed of the work being done by the schools.

The observance is conducted in cooperation with the Parent Teacher associations, the American Legion, women's organization, chambers of commerce, and other service and civic groups.

It was estimated last year from attendance reports that over 1,000,000 citizens over the state attended meetings in public school auditoriums.

Mrs. True Durbrow came up from Berkeley Friday to spend a few days.

PLAQUE SET AT COFOMA

Structure Dedicated To Memory Of Mather Peirce At Exercises On Sunday

Under the auspices of the history and landmarks committee of Marguerite Parlor No. 12, Native daughters of the Golden West, exercises were held Sunday afternoon at the Episcopal Church at Coloma at which a plaque to the memory of Father C. C. Peirce, pioneer county pastor, was unveiled.

The exercises were opened at 2 o'clock in the church auditorium and despite inclement weather, there was a large attendance, with Miss Esther Sullivan, past grand president of the Native Daughters and chairman of the Grand Parlor committee on History and Landmarks, and Grover Powers, Grand Trustee of the Native Sons of the golden West, as special guests.

Mrs. George Wickes, chairman of the history and landmarks committee of Marguerite Parlor, opened the meeting and presented the chairman of the day, Henry S. Lyon, Grand Second Vive-President of the Native Sons.

All then joined in singing "America," following which the opening prayer was spoken by the Rev. Rex A. Barron.

District Attorney Lyon spoke concerning the importance of the work of the Native Sons and Native Daughters through their history and landmarks committees, and introduced Miss Sullivan.

At the conclusion of Miss Sullivan's talk, Rev. Barron gave a review of the life of Father Peirce who as rector of the Church of Our Saviour ministered throughout the county with unusual devotion to his life's work and to the welfare of the county and its people.

Grand Trustee Powers then spoke and at the conclusion of his remarks the assembled audience sang the favorite hymn of Father Peirce, "Onward Christian Soldiers."

The benediction was spoken by Rev. Barron and all adjourned to the exterior of the building where the plaque, which had been previously placed, was unveiled by Miss Sullivan and Mr. Powers.

BLIZZARD HITS MIDDLE WEST

Sixty-Mile Gale Sweeps Chicago Lakeshore; Snow, Extreme Cold Forecast

United Press Staff Correspondent

A blizzard swept northwest across Missouri, Illinois and Northern Indiana today, disrupting land and air transportation.

The storm, centered over southern Illinois, was accompanied by a sharp drop in temperatures. Freezing rains bordered the northern and eastern fringes of the storm area and extended through Pennsylvania to New Jersey.

U. S. Forecaster C. A. Donnell, Chicago, predicted lower temperatures, gales and heavy snows for the entire eastern half of the Great Lakes area and an extreme cold wave in North Dakota and northern Missesota by tonight.

Storm warnings were posted from Cape Hatteras to the Virghia Capes and from Port Arthur, Tex., to Carrabelle, Fla.

At Chicago traffic was rerouted from sections of the Lake Shore Drive. A gale, which reached a velocity of 60 miles an hour, made walking and driving hazardous.

Attendants at the Chicago municipal airport said no airplanes had left the airport since 10 p. m. last night.

WHOLESALE DEER-KILLING CASE SENDS FIVE TO JAIL

Unable to pay fines aggregating more than $1,500, five defendants went to jail Monday afternoon under sentence in the Justice Court of Placerville township in a wholesale round-up of one of the most aggravated game law cases in several years.

Four of the five were charged with taking deer out of season and the fifth was charged with possession. In some instances, it was said, spotlight hunting was involved, and one of the defendants admitted that he personally had killed fourteen deer since September.

The operations were in the vicinity of Pollock Pines and the quintet was brought to justice by Game Wardens Nelson Poole, Bill La Marr, Earl Hicox and A. H. Willard, assisting Game Warden Al Sears and co-operating with District Attorney Henry S. Lyon.

Dan Sames, charged with possession, was fined $25 of twelve and one-half days in jail.

Ralph Burkhart was fined $500, Allyn Muender $400, Merritt Tiffin $400 and Carl Burkhart $250. Justice of the Peace T. F. Lewis ordered that the men be credited with $2 on their fines for each day served in jail, but that in no case was a man to be imprisoned for more than six months.

The survey is being carried out in certain states of the nation by the Agricultural Extension Service at the request of the Federal Department of Agriculture, seeking a "picture" by counties and states of what the farmers declare to be their problems in land use.

Farmers of the Missouri Flat section listed the following eleven problems in land use in that area:

1. The need for more water at a lower rate;
2. Development of uses for present unused land;

4. More cross-fencing as an aid to grazing;
5. Weed control;

JUDGE RESIGNS UNDER FIRE

Martin T. Manton, Of U. S. Circuit Court, Under Cloud In New York

WASHINGTON, (U.P. — Chairman Hatton W. Sumners, D., Tex., of the house judiciary committee said today that U. S. Circuit Judge Martin T. Manton of New York has submitted his resignation.

Sumners' committee acts as a "grand jury" on allegations of misconduct against federal judicial officials.

The group will meet tomorrow to consider an impeachment resolution against Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, and Sumners said it probably will discuss the Manton case at the same time.

New York's District Attorney Thos. E. Dewey, in a letter he sent Rep. Sumners, charged that Manton, senior judge of the United States circuit court of appeals, or corporations in which Manton was interested, had received sums of money from individuals or corporations acting for individuals or corporations interested in matters handled by the court.

"In view of recent public developments and of your public comment expressing interest in the matter," Dewey wrote Sumners. "I deem it my duty to lay before you certain facts in my possession.

"If, upon the foregoing facts, the house of representatives should assume jurisdiction of this matter, I am prepared to present evidence before your committee in support thereof."

Dewey's letter followed the beginning of a series of articles in The New York World-Telegram concerning Manton's business and judicial activities.

Europe Again Has "Jitters"

Importance In Future On Continent Attached To Hitler's Exhortation

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
Foreign News Editor

The Great powers entered another fateful week today with Adolph Hitler again holding the answer to whether Europe's fields will bear grain or guns in the spring.

Tonight, on the sixth anniversary of the Nazi rise to power, the Fuehrer will address the reichstag of Greater Germany for the first time, giving a worried continent and a preview of what the dictators plan for 1939. (Hitler's talk was heard by radio in the U. S. this afternoon

Answers to two specific questions affecting the broad problem of war or peace will be sought in Hitler's words.

Of greatest immediate concern will be an indication of how far the military might of Nazi Germany will be used in support of her dictatorial partner—Italy—and in furtherance of Fascist imperialism at the expense of France and Great Britain in the Mediterranean basin.

Of equal importance will be the Nazi Fuehrer's plans for expanding the German end of the Rome-Berlin axis by demanding restoration of the Reich's pre-war colonial expire or even by an adventurous new step eastward toward the oil wells and wheat fields of the Ukraine.

Hitler, in fact, will speak not to the Reichstag and not the German people. He will speak instead to the government leaders of Europe. And on what he fails to say as well as what he says they will base their next moves in an historic struggle that now touches every corner of the world.

THE Book Mark

By JANE VOILES

FOR MEN our choice of the book of the week is "We Saw it Happen" a collection of 12 articles written by 13 newspapermen. It is present day history observed by trained experts who are on the spot as the events take place. Politics, finance, sports, Central Europe, Britain, Japan, Antarctic exploration, the Scopes and Massie trial, and Hollywood are covered. John Kieran, who is a brilliant sportswriter (one of the stars of the radio program, Information Please) reviews the world of sport. Kieran is not the person to do any white washing, you may be sure. He gives the unsavory details as well as the generous gestures that take place inside of the prize ring. Braddock's comeback is told with dramatic effect, how the washed up fighter lost out and had to go on the public relief line, how he persisted until he got on top again and, incidentally "paid back to the New Jersey Relief Commission the money he received by way of public charity." The five star headliner of a great era in sport were according to Mr. Kieran, Babe Ruth, Bob Jones, Bill Tilden, Jack Dempsey and Man o'War.

In the article called "Land of the Rising Sun" Hugh Byas gives a swift-moving picture of Japan's sudden leap into industrial prominence. Her people amendable to discipline and to regimentation have made possible the building of a fleet second to none and ac universal military service as their contribution toward national development. Japan's Emperor, Byas writes, is the world's wealthiest emperor.

Hollywood, the eighth and ninth wonder of the world, is cleverly exploited by two bright boys, Frank Nugent and Douglas Churchill. Permitted to gossip only about such subject as Joan Crawford's eating habits, Kay Francis' clothes or the romances of screen heroes, reporters seldom get the facts, but these lads do get the low down. The glamour children of Hollywood are only human beings after all, they say, struggling to reach the top and slated sooner or later for a fall.

Written freely without any apparent censorship, this collection of articles brings you right into the thick of what is happening today.

FOR WOMEN, but let us add a parenthesis that women who are interested in current affairs will want to read "We Saw It Happen," we recommend Georgiana Brown Harbeson's "American Needlework." This is a big book, a kind of elephant folio, as well it must be to cover all the ground. It is published by Coward, McCann Co., and it costs $15.00. You get doses of history and social science pleasantly interspersed in the story of needlework as Miss Harbeson discusses the domestic background of each period.

Indian contributions to our needlework are included. The quill work (porcupine quills dyed and worked into designs on leather or birch bark) in which the Sioux and Chippewas excelled, is described. Bead work, especially that of the Ojibway squaws, and the fishskin applique originated by the Alaskan Eskimos receives attention.

In the Colonial period when women were too busy to look for careers outside their home, needlework was important. Needlepoint was a favorite and Martha Washington turned out some interesting samples. Stump work, crewel embroidery, turkey work were popular while quilting and candlewicking were a fine art in themselves.

Miss Harbeson gives an engaging sketch of the sampler. She quotes many of the sentiments of the time, that were worked on samplers. This is one of our favorites:

Have not Eve and Adam taught us
Their sad profit to compute
To what dismal state they brought us
When they stole forbidden fruit.

We could go indefinitely telling about the embroidered wedding gowns, the tambour work for which Madame Pompadour set the fashion, religious and patriotic (flags) needlework, and the needle painting in which shepherds and shepherdesses were favorite subjects. The Victorian era was epochal for its great output of rococo productions when fervent romantic ladies went in for antimacassars, court plaster cases, and tidies of every kind and description.

A specialist in her field, Miss Harbeson brings her book up to date showing the high degree of artistry achieved by the best of the present day needlework. The book is a labor of love as well as a definitive reference work. See it by all means.

The Home Yen

Three poets have contributed these heart beats to the literature of home. Say they:

"Build me a home; I am lonely,
Lonely for a chimney and cat.
I've been about and I've found out
Life's too big for a flat."

"Build me a home; I am hungry
For the bark of a dog in a lane,
For the sight of a light
In a window at night
And the song of a roof in the rain."

"Build me a home in a garden
With my window flush with the lawn
Where Life overflows
On the heart of a rose.
Where birds may wake me at dawn."

Smart Dressing

It takes study and experience to dress smartly, but any woman may learn how to do it. Standing before a long mirror, study your figure. Are you tall, lanky, broad of hips or bust, short waisted, stout? If so, learn what lines will hide these defects and flatter you.

If your figure is too tall, provide garments with cross lines, seams, trimming, folds or a sash of a contrasting color to lead the eye across your figure and so seem to shorten it. If you are too short or too plump, reverse the style. Have only up and down lines, seams, rows of buttons, pleats, braid, folds, which will lead the eye up and down. Omit the belt or have it insignificant and of the same goods as the garment.

If too broad across the bust, emphasize the hips. Have a bit of trim or fullness there to make you seem in proportion. If your hips are too large, make the shoulders and upper trunk seem broader. Light colors and shiny goods make one seem larger, dark colors and dull surface do not call attention to one's size. By fullness, points, lines, and trimming one may disguise one's real shape and give it a desired illusion. Practice before a mirror and you can learn these effects.

Housewifery

To remove an obstinate glass stopper from a bottle, wrap a cloth wrung out of very hot water about the neck of the bottle. The heat expands the bottle and permits the cork to be removed. The same principle may be applied when one dish has become stuck inside another. Wrap a hot wet cloth about the outer dish.

What to do with old newspapers, which accumulate in the house so rapidly these days, is a problem to some housewives. If folded tight and crumpled compactly, they will serve as kindling to start the fire. If you use gas and a continuous furnace, then you may have the garbage man haul them away or give them to the Salvation Army.

A handful of salt in the last rinse water will keep the clothes from freezing to the line in zero weather.

A nutpick is a more convenient utensil than a knife for removing the seeds from a half orange or grapefruit.

Rice

Rice was brought to North America by a sailor from Madagascar about 1700. It is a nutritious and inexpensive food, and particularly valuable because it combines well with many other foods. Unpolished rice is richer in food value since its coat of minerals has not been polished off. White rice corresponds to white flour. Rice is mostly starch, in a very digestible form.

Hot boiled rice with milk and sugar is a pleasing breakfast or supper food. To boil rice, add one cup of rice to two quarts of boiling water and boil gently until the grains are tender, then simmer until the water is absorbed.

Electrical Equipment

When you are building or remodeling a house, provide generously for future electrical needs. It is inexpensive to install outlets at this time, but costly later. Furniture will be moved from time to time and new invention will call for more outlets. Several should be provided in each room to take care of lamps, refrigerator, sewing machine, curling iron, razor, electric pad, heater, ironer, washing machine, toaster, coffee percolator, Christmas lights, the radio, the waffle iron and other conveniences. The up-to-date house is wire-bound.

If your wiring was instaled for old-time needs, with low wattage requirements, it may need additional circuits to take care of more appliances. If the circuit is overloaded, it may blow a fuse, a safety device which prevents injury to a motor, the wires, or the generaiton of a dangerous amount of heat. The blowing of a fuse is a symptom of trouble, and this should be looked after before a blown fuse is replaced.

Household type fuses are rated and the rating is stamped on them. Fifteen amperes is for the usual household circuit. Be very sure not to use fuses rated in excess of the circuit provided. To do this is a fire hazard. If your wiring was done some years ago, and you have added considerable electric equipment since, it is a wise precaution to have it investigated

If your fuse box is one of the improved kind, in which all the wires are covered and only the socket is exposed, you may screw a new fuse into it to replace a blown one, as easily and safely as to screw in a lamp bulb. If the wiring is exposed, no one but an expert should touch it, for fear of a shock. It is cheap and safe to have only the enclosed fuse equipment in your home.

In using electrical equipment, do not use too many devices at one time. When using the washing machine, shut off unnecessary appliances, to limit the load.

Fats in Baking

When fat is added to flour, it coats the particles and prevents the cohesion of the ingredients. This is said to "shorten" the product. The more fat, the shorter, or more tender the product will bee. For baked products almost any mild-flavored fat may be used—lard, butter margerines, meat frying, chicken fat or vegetable oils. Lard usually has greater shortening power that the others, since they contain a per cent of water or have had air beaten into them. When they are substituted for lard, a larger measure of them must be used, an additional tablespoon and a half of other fats when used instead of lard.

Food Ideas

To tomato soup, add salted whipped cream, mushrooms, chopped parsley, chopped olives, shreds of green or red peppers, beans, peas, cooked macaroni or toasted bread crumbs.

Bake together dried prunes, apricots and peaches which have been soaked overnight separately. Add to them, before baking: orange slices, cinnamon and enough fruit juice to cover.

When you take hot rolls from the oven, butter the tops with a paper rubbed in butter. This glazes the tops and keeps them from getting hard as well as giving them a good flavor.

Mrs. Ruby May Green Funeral Tuesday

Rev. Harold Morehouse will conduct the service. Burial will be at Union cemetery.

Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE

LOS ANGELES, (IP)—Don't look now, but that fellow boarding the Normandie at Le Havre for a trip to the United States is Max Schmeling, and the little man with him is Max Machon, a prominent towel thrower from Deusseldorf. It was Machon's polished performance with a towel that all but saved Schmeling's life in his last fight with Joe Louis and he is coming along on the outside chance that the German heavyweight will meet Louis again.

Personally, I don't believe Maxie wants any part of Louis again. Max it a very smart boy and on his last departure from these shores, strapped to a plank to keep his vertebrae from clicking like castanets, undoubtedly carried with him a lesson. One more session with Louis, and the ship carpenters might have to add two sides and a top to that plank he wore.

There is a report that Schmeling's trip was prompted by the German government, desiring to end talk that Max's licking by Louis had put him in bad with his countrymen and that he had been assigned to some job as boxing instructor in a concentration camp. There is also a report that his government wants him to fight the bomber again just to show the outside world that he is free to do what he wants. For myself, if Max fights Louis again I will interpret it as positive proof that somebody over there is mad at him, because a friendly power would ask anything but that. It might just as well show its good will by buying him a home guillotine set or a pair of matched cobras for his living room.

Of course, if Max should throw his stalking cap into the heavyweight ring it would add to the gaiety of the present setup. The heavyweight situation already is frought with heavyweights and the addition of one more challenger would only make it fraughter, so to speak. And to tell the truth Schmeling has as good a right as anyone else to clamor for a shot at the title held by Louis. He is strictly a second rater now, but so are all the others . He certainly wouldn't be worse than even money against the scholarly but awkward Galento, the most modest but faint-hearted Bear, the sauve but light hitting Farr, or the handsome but inexperienced Nova.

There's a real set of challengers for you, isn't it? I'll swear that Louis could knock all of them out in one evening and still get home in time for dinner while it was warm.

Joe's great show of power against such a genuinely good fighter as the light heavyweight champion, John Henry Lewis, gives to the old ring belief that colored champions are a cinch to fall apart when the money rolls in, the wardrobe loaded with fancy clothes.

Joe's a millionaire, has a car big enough to comfortably seat a regiment, eats only the choicest pork chops, and has more clothes than a well stocked department store, but he fights just as savagely as and just as efficiently as he did in those days when he had to go two quick rounds with the wolf every time he stepped out side his shanty door.

LARGEST IN WORLD

ARE SERVICE STATIONS going to have pretty girls like this one to polish the windshield? No, this is a picture of the world's largest gasoline pump and the attractive model is just there for comparison. The pump was one of many novel features at the annual Shell Oil Co. sales conferences which local Shell representatives attended.

SHELL SALES STAFF AT SACRAMENTO FOR CONFERENCE

Summoned to attend the annual sales conference and discuss with executives plans for 1939, L. R. Armes, with Ellis Amick, George Ruoff, Harold May, Virgil Avansino and Bud Goodin were at division headquarters of the company at Sacramento Thursday and Friday.

"Shell is looking forward to one of the best years in the company's history," Armes said. "Advertising will be continued on the same broad scale as last year, with newspapers forming the backbone of the program and tying in with national magagines, outdoor posters and direct mail."

"Prominent executives from the head office in San Francisco who were present at the conference included L. G. McLaren, vice president in charge of marketing, R. F. Schroeder, general sales manager, L. E. David, operations manager, and heads of various departments.

"The morning session was devoted to an interesting presentation of sales promotion plans, in which novel and interesting effects requiring the services of a score of people were used. Features of this part of the program were the largest gasoline pumps in the world, the "longest short distance call ever made," living cartoons, weighing a sales promotion program by the pound, and a five reel talking picture, made in Hollywood especially for this conference."

PILOT HILL PROSPECTOR DIES SUDDENLY OF HEART ATTACK

Attilo R. Giudici, 73, a native of Garden Valley and for many years a resident of the Pilot Hill vicinity collapsed and died suddenly on Saturday morning while prospecting with Clarence Gray.

Mr. Gray hastened to his friend's assistance when he complained of being acutely ill, but the aged man died within a few minutes.

The body is in the care of Memory Chapel and funeral arrangements were completed Monday on the arrival of an only son, Ray Giudici, of Los Angeles. The rites will be on Wednesday at one o'clock from the Catholic church at Georgetown, Father Myles officiating. Burial will be at the family plot in Georgetown cemetery.

Mr. Giudici had been employed as a carpenter in earlier life and is reported to have resided in and near Pilot Hill for the past forty years. He was a member of the Moose lodge at Sacramento.

In addition to the son, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Josephine Coster, of near Pilot Hill and by two brothers, William, of Pilot Hill, and John, of San Francisco.

GEORGETOWN LADY IS TAKEN MONDAY IN PLACERVILLE

The funeral services for Mrs. Ann Richards, wife of Frank B. Richards, of Georgetown, who died Monday morning at a hospital in Placerville, will be held on Wednesday at 2 o'clock from Memory Chapel. The service will be conducted by the Rev. Harold Morehouse. Cremation will follow, at Sacramento.

Mrs. Richards was a native of Mendocino County, this state, born March 7, 1907. Her passing followed an illness which had confined her to the hospital for about a week.

In addition to her husband, Francis B. Richards, she is survived by two children, Jean and Susan, by her mother, Mrs. L. Buttle, and one brother, Roy, all of Georgetown; and by two sisters, Mrs. Grace Colvin, of Lodi, and Mrs. Edith Morrison, of Borinf, Oregon.

Someone at the H. N. Farrell home put a newspaper on the stove to dry Friday evening and the paper dried and then caught fire. Firemen were called and there was no damage—except to the paper.

BIT OF CHINA IS MOVED ACROSS SEA TO S. F. FAIR

For the first time in history, a bit of China is being moved across the sea to the middle of San Francisco Bay, the Portal of the Orient. A typical Chinese village of Cathay with moon-gates, drooping eaves and mysterious pagodas will rise from Treasure Island, the scene of San Francisco's 1939 International Exposition.

The 1939 Chevrolet will be the official car of Chinese Village and in a recent tour of Treasure Island a group pre-viewed the attractions which will be offered at the Chinese Village.

Although covering a space of only a little more than two acres, Chinese Village will have all the salient features of China. A wall will completely surround the village. In the midst of a Chinese garden in the village, every plant of which is a native of Chinese soil, the visitor will see a subtly beautiful pagoda which will be the second tallest structure on the entire island. Entering the pagoda the visitor will find rare art treasures of China. In addition, one will see the stone-cobbled streets of the village with rickshas running up and down the narrow, crooked streets and typical bazaars and curio shops lining the streets. In the shops will be Chinese craftsmen busy at work—rug weavers, basket makers, ivory cutors and mat makers and at last chop suey-eating Americans will be able to taste real Chinese food, a large variety of delicacies prepared by well-known chefs.

The highlights of Chinese culture and civilization, a city of a thousand mysteries, the color and romance of ancient emperors of by-gone dynasties will be laid before our eyes.

Historical Society Meeting Tonight

A called meeting of the county historical society will be held at the Superior Court room at the courthouse tonight for furtherance of the society's aims toward financing its activities for the year.

The report of finance chairman Reuel Whigam, presented at a recent meeting, recommending an intensive one-day campaign to raise $1,200 which will be the society's need for the year, will be taken up and considered for definite action.

CARD PARTY

El Dorado, Wed. Eve., Feb. 1st, 8 p. m. Score cards and refreshments 35c. J30-3t*

If you are one of the "magic key" fans of a Sunday morning, have you ever stayed tuned to KGO for the military band concert which follows at 12 o'clock? If you like military bands, we recommend this one as being better than the one which we sometimes hear of an evening during the week.

A good press agent would say that tonight presents a galaxy of feature attractions. Galaxy to the radio is almost what colossal is to Hollywood, so you can see there's really something doing on the air tonight.

The Budd Show starts off at 6 o'clock and you can stay there or move over to KGO for that all-girl orchestra, which is very entertaining. At the half-hour, Westminster Choir is billed for KGO and Mister Muchin is on KPO.

Guy Lombardo on KPO at seven and the contented program has the same spot on KGO. They were in Scotland last week and the program was a dandy. Tonight they put on shredded wheat skirts and go to Honolulu.

Seven thirty brings Mr. Pearce and company in the breakfast CEREAL business to KPO. Mr. Edward Cantor runs competition on KSFO.

Eight o'clock, Amos and Andy, with Lum and Abner at 8:15, KSFO, and the voice of that auto tire manufacturer at 8:30, KPO, is now given to the world by Richard Brooks, or don't you care ?

Exposition Artists Visit County

Three artists who are among those engaged in building the exhibit for the world's fair which will represent El Dorado County, were in Placerville Sunday, coming up with E. E. Van Harlingen who also is working on the exhibit.

The visitors spent the day here as guests of Van Harlingen and of Wallace M. Ripley, chamber of commerce secretary. The three were Ed Arnold, of Denver, expert on scenery and dioramas; Alfred Weidler, of Hollywood, father of the juvenile, Virginia Weidler, and an expert on modeling; and Dorothy Schultz, of Hollywood, an expert on landscapes.

The group was especially interested in viewing at first-hand some of the older buildings of the county, and in noting the county's topographic features.
